REMODELING SALE.

Extensive improvements must be made in our building. Cellings to be torn out and laid with water pipes—a new elevator is to be installed—charges must be made in the boiler room—dusty, damaging work to stock and will require a great deal of room for the workmen. We must close out goods, and with that end in view have reduced everything in the house except a few lines of specialty goods that were bound by contract NOT TO REDUCE.

TO close out such a vast quantity of goods in a given time is an undertaking that demands that the most attractive offers shall be made—and we're making them.

You never bought Furniture, Carpets, Rugs, Draperies, Wall Papers, etc., of like quality for so little.

TO KEEP IN THE LIMIT

DEPARTMENT EXPENSES MUST NOT EXCEED APPROPRIATIONS.

General Order Issued by Secretary Morton for the Guidance of Naval Officers and Officials.

The general deficiency bill, recently approved by the President, contains a provision which, although little has been said of it, is regarded as of far-reaching importance by the officials of the government, especially those charged with the disbursement of funds. Therefore the laws have prohibited the expenditure of money in excess of a legislative appropriation, but prescribed no penalty for violation of the statutes. At the recent session of Congress, Section 3673 of the Revised Statutes, which comprised the law on the subject, was amended to read as follows: "No department of the government shall expend, in any one fiscal year, any sum in excess of appropriations made by Congress for that fiscal year, or involve the government in any contract or obligation for the future payment of money in excess of such appropriations unless such contract or obligation is authorized by law. Nor shall any department or officer of the government accept voluntary service for the government or employ personal service in excess of that authorized by law, except in cases of sudden emergency involving the loss of human life or the destruction of property. "All appropriations made for contingent expenses or other general purposes, except appropriations made for the fulfillment of contract obligations expressly authorized by law, or for objects required or authorized by law without reference to the amounts annually appropriated therefor, shall, on or before the beginning of each fiscal year, be so apportioned by monthly or other allotments as to prevent undue expenditures in the portions of the year that may require deficiency or additional appropriations to complete the service of the fiscal year; and all such appropriations shall be adhered to when waived or modified in specific cases by the written order of the head of the executive department or other government establishment having control of the expenditure, but this provision shall not apply to the contingent appropriations of the Senate or of the House of Representatives; and all such waivers or modifications, together with the reasons therefor, shall be communicated to Congress in connection with estimates for any additional appropriations required on account thereof. "Any person violating any provision of this section shall be summarily removed from office, and also be punished by a fine of not less than $100 or by imprisonment for not less than one month. Secretary Morton has issued a general order promulgating this provision of law for the information and guidance of officers and officials of the Navy Department, and it is declared that it is his purpose to enforce strictly the penalty clause of the statute against all offenders under his jurisdiction. It is understood that similar action will be taken by the heads of the other executive departments.

FUNERAL OF PATRICK I. MORAN TOMORROW MORNING.

Sioux Indians Attend "Red Men's"

Meeting—General and Personal Notes of Interest.

Requiem mass will be said for the repose of the soul of Mr. Patrick I. Moran of 1214 30th street Georgetown, at Holy Trinity Church, tomorrow morning. Mr. Moran's death occurred yesterday morning after a lingering illness. Interment will be in Holy Rood cemetery.

Mr. Moran was thirty-nine years old, and was a brother of Dr. John Moran, a prominent physician. He was the son of Mrs. Margaret Moran. He had resided in Georgetown for many years and had many friends. His wife and four children survive him.

Five Sioux Indians who were among the conspicuous visitors to Washington during the inauguration were among the special guests last evening at the banquet of the Logan Tribe, No. 8, Independent Order of Red Men, of Georgetown. The Indians were dressed in their striking costumes and furnished the guests a war dance, which was immensely enjoyed.

G. L. Nicholson, general manager of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company is on a trip of inspection up the canal and making a thorough investigation of conditions prior to the opening of the season, about April 1. Under the agreement a Washington system will remove all obstructions as a result of their building operations between cherry run and Cumberland. The canal authorities expect the coming season to eclipse the record of former years in traffic handled. The canal company employs about 500 men, fifty or more of whom are several hundred teams. Mr. Nicholson will return tomorrow.

Patriotic Order of America.

Georgetown Camp, Patriotic Order of America, has elected and installed the following officers for the ensuing year: Ida V. Deebie, president; Rachel Miller, assistant past president; Mary E. Phillips, vice president; George P. H. assistant vice president; Margaret Bradt, conductor; Joseph N. Lowe, recording secretary; John V. Young, treasurer; Grace Cumberland, guard; Arthur E. Bell, sentinel; Rose Laubach, London, J. R. Mortimer and Mamie Dennison, trustees. The case of Mary J. Stott against David J. Cotten, which was pending in court, attracted considerable interest in Georgetown, and which was tried before Justice Charles H. Bundy, has been appealed. As stated in The Star at the time, Mr. Cotten was adjudged guilty of trespass, and $300 damages was awarded the plaintiff. From the testimony adduced at the trial, it was alleged that Mr. Cotten was at the head of a movement to prevent the burning of soft coal in west end, and visited the premises in question for the purpose of securing evidence against the plaintiff. In entering the building it is alleged he broke a lock, and the suit for trespass followed. In his own defense, Mr. Cotten claims he knew nothing about the lock, and further avers he never went near the boiler room of the building, as stated by the plaintiff. The case will be heard at an early session of the circuit court.

General Matters.

Rev. Charles C. Coleman, who recently resigned as pastor of the West Street Presbyterian Church, has left for San Antonio, Texas, where he has accepted the pastorate of a church in that city.

Miss Ethelwyn Hendrickson of Pittsburgh, Pa., has spent the past two weeks as the guest of Mrs. Edgar M. Hayes, at her residence on N street.

Mr. George C. Boteler, a merchant of Georgetown, residing in Alexandria, and who is understood to be a candidate for the Virginia state legislature.

Miss Essie Rentsell of Maryland has been the guest of Mrs. S. S. Scholten, of Valley street for the past ten days. The revival services of the Dumbarton Avenue Methodist Church during the week just past, under the direction of the pastor, Rev. F. H. Haverner, are reported to have been successful. The pastor was assisted by Miss Bertha Sanford, the deaconess evangelist.

SHOULD BE UNDER BAN

BISHOP SATTERLEE'S VIEW OF CERTAIN DIVORCED PERSONS.

The Rt. Rev. Henry Y. Satterlee, bishop of the diocese of Washington, is earnestly advising the introduction of a bill in the House by Representative Morrell of Pennsylvania, which provides that all divorced persons except the innocent party in a cause based on statutory grounds, shall be ineligible to hold office under the federal government. In a statement made public today Bishop Satterlee uses very strong language in commenting on divorce and its deteriorating influence upon the American home life. He is strongly in favor of having the national government take some action to head off or eradicate the divorce evil, and declares that it is of more consequence to the people than the railroad rebate question or anything else.

"I regard the preservation of the family," said the bishop, "as the greatest of all duties, and the preservation of the family is the basis upon which the welfare of the state absolutely depends, because it is, after all, not the individual but the family which is the unit of civilization. "If the civil service law is necessary as a means of obtaining the highest degree of intelligence and the preservation of honesty in the public service among public officers, said Bishop Satterlee, "then I think the Morrell bill a more important measure by far than any other which has been introduced by the American people, as its object is the protection of our national home life."

Works No Hardship.

"The fact that the Morrell bill is not in any way retroactive does not work a hardship upon any of those divorced persons who are already holding office. It merely gives to those who are divorced hereafter shall be employed in the government service, and it is a further safeguard upon the honor of the government which are now in the service that if they seek divorce they shall be dropped."

"As the matter has been deemed worthy of so much attention throughout the country, it would seem that the right place to start a reform would be at the fountain head of the government, to which we all look for a guiding hand. "The United States government cannot interfere with the laws of the states regarding marriage. Since Congress can pass a law that every man who is not an honest man cannot be employed in the public service, surely Congress has the power to insist upon certain moral qualifications in the case of those who are to be employed in a crusade against this social evil. It will be well for senators and representatives carefully to consider this bill, which is as important to the people as the bill regulating railroad freight rates."

Increase in Steamship Rates.

LONDON, March 10.—In accordance with the agreement arrived at during the recent conference of representatives of the transatlantic steamship lines the summer tariffs will be inaugurated April 1 instead of May 1, as heretofore. The general increase in saloon rates from $5 to $12.50, according to the class of steamer, and the increase in the second cabin rates by $5, which applies both to summer and winter, will go into effect March 24.

Rush for London Water Stock.

LONDON, March 10.—The issue of $17,000,000 Rand water board 4 per cent stock offered today by Speyer Brothers was so largely oversubscribed that the bids were closed within two hours. It is the intention of Speyer Brothers to amalgamate all the water concerns of the Witwatersrand under one management.

ALEXANDRIA AFFAIRS

SUICIDE OF CAPT. ROBERT V. WILKINSON.

Glee Club to Give an Entertainment—

Large List of Patronesses—General and Personal.

Special Correspondence of The Evening Star.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., March 10, 1905. Capt. Robert V. Wilkinson of Baltimore, who was in charge of the dredging vessel Chesapeake, committed suicide in his room on board that boat between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning by shooting himself with a pistol in the right temple. Death was probably instantaneous. There were no witnesses to the act, the members of the crew being engaged in other parts of the vessel, and no one heard the shot. Captain Wilkinson did not appear in response to the call for breakfast and a man was sent to inform him that the meal was ready. The messenger found the captain lying upon a couch with a large wound in his head. A pistol with one chamber empty lay upon the floor. The police department was notified and Coroner Purvis was summoned. It appeared so clear a case of suicide that the coroner deemed an inquest unnecessary. The remains were placed in charge of Undertaker B. Wheatley preparatory to being sent to Baltimore for interment.

To the members of his crew Captain Wilkinson made no intimation of his intention to end his life. They were at a loss to suggest the motive for the suicide, apart from the fact that the captain had been in ill health for some time. Last year he spent nine months in a hospital in Baltimore and was operated on for some affection of the lungs. It was thought that he feared the development of consumption.

On the desk in his room were found two notes, both written yesterday, one to Mr. Lee Lash of this city and the other to Miss Maggie Wells, residing at 1029 Alice Ann street, Baltimore. The note to Mr. Lash was brief, giving simple directions as to the care of his remains. The note to Miss Wells was more elaborate. It was stated that Captain Wilkinson had been paying Miss Wells attention for some time and it was understood that they were to be married.

Captain Wilkinson was about forty years of age. He had been in the service of the Maryland Dredging company for twenty years and in charge of the Chesapeake for five years. The vessel has been lying at a wharf here all winter, during which time the captain made the acquaintance of several people in Alexandria. He was regarded as a cheerful, genial man, and his friends know of no cause other than that of ill health to explain his rash act.

General Matters.

The performance of the University of Virginia Band and Glee Club, under the auspices of the Old Dominion Boat Club of this city, in the Opera House this evening, gives promise of being an event of musical note. Several of the most popular matrons of Alexandria have consented to act as patronesses.

The case of Edward Drown, Lee Drown and Augustus Robinson, charged with stealing a quantity of copper, supposed to be the property of the Southern Railway Company, were continued in the police court this morning until next Tuesday.

A man giving his name as Charles Johnson and stating that he was a pleasure agent was arrested on the charge of acting in an insulting manner to several ladies at whose houses he called in his canvass. In court this morning he forfeited $5 by non-appearance.

The funeral of Miss Mary Elaine Posey, whose death occurred last Wednesday, will take place this afternoon from the residence of her father, Mr. William Posey, 1304 King street. Rev. Mr. Wyatt conducted the services and the interment was made in Bethel cemetery.

Miss Roxie Donphan, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia at the residence of her father, Mr. S. Donphan, on North Washington street, is improving.

Rev. George Garrett, formerly of this city, is visiting friends here.

DROPPED INTO VERSE

GOVERNMENT CHEMIST WILEY TALKED ON DYE IN FOOD.

"I do not care to make a dye shop of my intestinal canal," said Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture, yesterday afternoon, when he was addressing the students at the Woman's College in Baltimore on "Foods—Their Adulteration and Misbranding."

Dr. Wiley was referring to the coloring of jams, jellies, marmalades and preserves. He said in part: "Every fruit should be true to its name. What you get is hard to know; almost any old thing that looks like fruit. Manufacturers buy up rotten apples, old cores and make jelly. That is the basis for over two dozen kinds of preserves and jellies; the only difference is in the coloring and the flavoring. In the case of strawberry jam they put in a little hayseed. Even imported goods are no guarantee of excellence. Our apple substance is covered with germs, each armed with a hook and coloring matter."

In Dr. Wiley's opinion, butter coloring is the greatest of all offenses, and is the most universal. White butter comes from lack of proper attention in the dairy. If people of this country would demand uncolored butter they would get it, he said. "There are some vegetable colorings that are harmless in themselves, and there are some that are positively injurious to health. In considering the latter the use of sulphate of copper for coloring vegetables is a good example. There is not an American manufacturer of food who does not use it, but it is a common practice in Europe. After the 10th of this month all foods which contain this coloring must be labeled."

Adulteration of Food.

In speaking of adulteration Dr. Wiley said: "One adulterates food for the purpose of injuring health—the adulteration may injure health incidentally—but the sole purpose is for financial gain, nothing else. The adulteration of food may take several forms. One of the most common is the use of antiseptics to keep foods from decay. But there is no excuse for preserving food that there is no excuse for antiseptics, for example, the drying of foods, the sterilizing of foods and the use of cold storage."

Dr. Wiley ridiculed the idea of sealing food tightly to preserve it. He said it makes no difference whether air is in the can or not. The germs which the air carries cause the food to decay. The only time that the man who makes butter has a legal right to color it is when people go on a great distance. It is better to eat foods which contain salicylic acid than starve. Another form of adulteration is the withdrawing of salt balance, as cream from milk, and selling the remains as whole milk.

Still another, he said, is selling under the name of a genuine article something that is not the article. An illustration of this is the selling of oleomargarine for butter. Dr. Wiley does not find any fault with oleomargarine; in fact, thinks it is better than butter, but it is not a legal right to color it, but the man who makes oleomargarine is denied that right. Dr. Wiley also spoke of the danger of selling glass bottles and the wrong labeling or misbranding of food.

In conclusion Dr. Wiley said, "We want people to know what they eat. This is the whole propaganda of pure food—it is food that is pure to its name." He then recited the following poem of his own composition, which was decidedly well received by his listeners:

Know What You Eat. I WONDER WHAT'S IN IT. We sit at a table delightfully spread, And covered with good things to eat, And daintily butter the bread, Just needing to make it complete. A film of butter, so yellow and sweet, Well suited to make every minute A dream of delight, and yet while we eat
